

A HISTORIC BUILDING
REFURBISHED FOR MODERN COMFORT

The Pacific Hotel was built in 1916. Located between the Missouri Pacific Railroad, which ran down the middle of Gordy Street, and the Missouri Pacific Depot on North Main, the hotel served workers and patrons of the railroad for many years. When the oil boom caused El Dorado's population to explode from 2,500 in 1914 to 19,000 in 1918, its rooms must have been full most of the time. Lovingly restored, the hotel is again providing comfort for travelers to El Dorado
